

St. Mark's Nursery Weekly Newsletter w/b 27/11/17

This half term's theme is 'Traditional tales'

The children have really enjoyed making houses for the 'Three Little Pigs' this week. They enjoyed exploring straw, sticks and bricks in the playdough and junk area. This has created lots of talk and play around building houses; therefore, we have decided to continue with the theme of building. This week we will be constructing with lots of different materials and learning about their properties. We will start to think about planning our models and structures before we start to build them. As always in nursery, we will also be doing lots of number work and mark making along the way.

Things to do at home:

Please help your child with their number recognition. You can do this by pointing out numbers anywhere you see them; supermarkets, on your phone, door numbers or by simply writing some numbers down on a piece of paper using bright coloured pens. You could even go on a number hunt around your house or the park.

Please help:

Thank you to all the parents who attended our 'Phunky Foods' event this week. The children really enjoy bringing their 'grown ups' into nursery and we appreciate your support in everything that we do.

We are short of spare socks. If you have any old pairs your child no longer needs, please can you send them in. Also, please can you put a spare pair in your child's bag, so they have some to pop on, if theirs get wet?
